Dating agencies, international dating websites, etc. are the services that are designed to help single people find love and romance. As the Russian foreign dating industry is expanding, dating companies are offering ever more services to satisfy the increasingly high demand. The Russian romance tour event is designed for couples who've previously "met" online and are now looking for a way to meet in person and get to know each other better.

Most people who have never heard of international dating or tried it are suspicious about the outcome of this kind of dating. Travelling to Russia to meet women while going around for sightseeing tours sounds a bit unusual. It's also a lot more time consuming and expensive than regular online dating. While there is truth to this, there are many western men who really want to try and experience something new while looking for their matches.

If you have decided that going on a Russian romance tour is the right thing for you, read the following points below as they will help you understand what to expect when you sign up for one such tour.

1. Generally, the price of the romance tour covers nearly everything – from airport transfers to your accommodation to professional translators and social activities with the ladies. Different companies offer different activities and services, so there's no general price for the services. Expect to pay between $2,000-$5,000.

Besides the above mentioned costs like accommodation and social activities, the tour packages include free credits or membership discounts to the company's homepage as well. Chances are, if you meet your match, the agency will help with the processing of a spouse visa.

2. The length of each tour is different and will depend on the organisation you have selected. The idea of each tour is to offer you the best service possible and allow you to take your time and enjoy yourself, so the tours last around twelve to fourteen days.

3. Russia is a place with unique history. Numerous heritage sites and interesting places make it the perfect place for a getaway. Each Russian romance tour generally takes place in Moscow or St. Petersburg, although other cities may be visited. These places have been chosen because of their historic sights, exclusive restaurants and bars and, of course, the number of beautiful Russian ladies in the area.

4. When choosing the perfect romance package for you, you'll be surprised to learn that it will be very similar to choosing a holiday package. Consider these things first:

-Which deal provides the best experience without the headache?

-Which tour operator can I trust the most?

-Which tour can I afford?

It is important to know what you're there for when you're in the process of choosing the perfect romance tour. This will help you make the right choice. Ask about everything that may be important for you – the food they're serving, the type of your accommodation, what are the activities about, etc.

Besides meeting the woman of your dreams, you want to have the best experience of your life.
