Meeting Russian women through online dating websites may seem easier or cheaper at first because you just have to sign up and then you can have access to a lot of profiles right away. The thing is though, there is a lot of waiting involved with this method such that if you are in a hurry to meet real Russian women you might get impatient. Aside from having to wait for replies from women you've sent messages to, there is also a possibility that you will come across several fake profiles created by women or men who may want to scam off from you.

A faster method of meeting Russian women would be to sign up with a dating service that specializes with matching up men with girls from Russia and other places in the former Soviet Union. With these agencies, there is a higher chance that you will get to meet real Russian women faster. This is because these agencies, especially those that have been established for quite some time already are run by professionals; most of them won't just have an office in Russia but also some offices in the United States, the United Kingdom, or in Australia or wherever majority of their clients come from.

Another reason why these dating agencies are more effective is that they screen the women that are included in their database. This means that the chances of fake profiles slipping through their screening process and victimizing men searching for Russian friends, girlfriends, or wives are low. Another benefit of the screening process is that you can be sure that the contact details such as the phone numbers, postal address, and email address provided to you are vouched for and real.

However, you have to be aware as well that not all dating agencies are created equal. Just like in any business organization that you engage in, there are those that are effective and there are also those that do not deliver what they have advertised. So, before engaging in the services of a dating agency or dating service, you have to do some background checks first. It is best to find out several dating agencies, make a shortlist of potential ones, and do your research and make comparisons.

If you notice all of the websites of these agencies have a testimonial page. These testimonials are supposedly from previous clients who have been successful in their quest to meet real Russian women and are now happily married or in a nice relationship with the Russian girl of their dreams. However, you must take these testimonials with a grain of salt. Or better yet, skip them entirely as anyone from the agency could have easily written these.

A far better way to get genuine testimonials is to sign up in forums or online groups of men in similar circumstances. There are several of these forums out there where you can ask and find answers to any query relating to this whole process starting with how to meet real Russian women to the intricacies of applying for a visa if you want to go to Russia and meet the girl there, or applying for a fiancée visa for your Russian girlfriend to fly into your country. At these online forums, you will be able to benefit from the experience of other men who have been in your situation before.
