One can find many different dating services meant to help men connect with Ukrainian women. The size of the dating industry is growing fast as more guys than ever are hoping to find partners abroad. The agencies have created a new service and are now organising meetings in Ukraine for likely couples to get to know each other better. These are called romance tours.

If you haven't been in the European dating world for too long, you're probably thinking this isn't doable. The thought of flying to Ukraine and meeting women while seeing the sights and taking a tour seems too bizarre. It also feels like this is way too much trouble and far more costly compared to online dating. Although this is true, hundreds of guys are willing to pay the extra cash to get the dating experience of their life.

Typically these Ukraine romance tours include everything – from airport transfers to your hotel to professional translators and participating in social events. Dating agencies are doing their best to be able to give you the dating experience of a lifetime. All there's left to do is to meet and date Ukrainian women. Many of the tour packages include free credits or membership discounts to the company's homepage, in addition to the above mentioned costs. They might even help you with the processing of your lady's visa if it comes to this.

Depending on the company, the dating tours may last seven days or more. After all, the intent of the agency is to give you time to enjoy everything Ukraine has to offer.

There are many places to visit when you are in Ukraine. It's a place rich in heritage, history and fascinating tourist spots to visit. The romance tours generally take place in Kiev, Nikolaev, Odessa, although other cities can be visited too.

There is no normal price for a typical romance tour as these vary for different companies, as do the activities on each tour. The price can range from two to five thousand dollars. In the event you reserve the tour beforehand, there are special deals that may apply.

Choosing the best tour package is the last step and choosing it is no different from selecting your holiday package. Consider these things before you make your final decision:

- Which tour package has the most positive feedback?
- Which tour package is within my budget?
- Which tour package would give me the perfect experience (with less hassle)?

Try to figure out why you're going to Ukraine at all. Is it just to meet beautiful Ukrainian women or are you serious about finding the love of your life? Knowing this will help you make your choice.
