There are many different services to choose from if you're interested in international dating. You could sign up on any suitable online dating site, you could register with a local dating agency, you could browse personal ads in newspapers or you could participate in tours of the Ukraine. That's right, dating companies have come up with a brand new service to offer their customers even more. The Ukrainian Dating Tours are meant for men who would like to add a little something extra to their dating experience.

Many people who are not familiar with online or international dating may find this a bit silly. It sounds like it's very expensive and also a lot of trouble flying all the way to the Ukraine. They may ask, "wouldn't it be easier to meet women online instead?" While this is certainly true that tours of the Ukraine are definitely not for everyone, many European and American men are willing to go the extra mile in order to meet the woman of their dreams.

Below is a little guide to what you can expect when you sign up for a dating tour.

1. First and foremost, the price

Typically, these Ukrainian Romance Tours cover almost everything – from accommodation to flight tickets and airport transfers to services of professional translators and participation in social activities. It is the goal of any dating company to give their members the best service possible and create an experience of a lifetime. Most companies will also include special promotions like membership deals or free services once the tour is finished.

Usually the tours cost between $3000 and $5500 dollars, but keep in mind this is just an average figure. Depending on the services and activities that are offered by your tour provider, the price may change in any direction. If you book your tour early, you should be able to get a nice discount too.

The men who take part in these tours of the Ukraine are usually American so the tour packages are put together keeping that in mind. However, there are some non-American clients too. They can buy a so called "land only" package which includes everything except the airfare.

2. Where will you go

Ukraine is a beautiful country and very popular among tourists who travel there to see the stunning scenery and interesting historical sights. During your Ukraine tour, you will most likely visit Kiev, Odessa, Nikolaev, although other areas can be visited upon request. The companies have decided on these cities based on what they've got to offer. Quality restaurants and nightclubs, interesting things to see in the city and the availability of beautiful Ukraine women are what influence the process of choosing a destination.

3. Choosing your tour package

Most men would agree that choosing a Ukraine dating tour package is not so much different from choosing your next holiday destination. There are important things that should be considered in both case.

You will definitely want to find a tour that will offer the best experience without too much hassle. You also want to read the reviews of each operator to see which one has the highest recommendations. It's important to know how much you can spend as well, so the price of any given tour will influence your decision.

Ask about everything that interests you – the food that will be served, the style of your accommodation, what are the activities about, etc. Other than meeting the love of your life, you want to have the best experience of your life too.
