

RUSSIAN WOMEN DATING TIPS TO START A FRUITFUL RELATIONSHIP

July 15, 2013

Rica

Before commencing on a new venture, it is always recommended to find out what you can about it. This general rule applies even to dating Russian women in particular. Whether you are just curious about the idea of dating someone from Russia or are already interested in a Russian lady and want to date her, it will be beneficial to seek out some Russian women dating tips. This way, you will have lesser mistakes from the start and be on your way to having a fruitful relationship in the long run.

Be mindful of cultural differences.

A girl from another country will naturally have a different upbringing which will color her perceptions and attitudes. A Russian girlfriend will most likely have a way of looking at and responding to situations and events that will differ from yours. For example, she may not be comfortable in voicing out strong opinions on charged topics like politics and religion. Don't make the mistake that she does not have an opinion on a topic that interests you just because she doesn't say anything. Maybe in her culture and family, it is often the men who say their opinions. If you prefer that she would be more opinionated, you will have to coax her thoughts out of her at first.

Find out about Russian traditions.

An important Russian women dating tip would be to find out about her country's traditions. This will actually help you understand more where she comes from and the reason behind cultural differences between you. Knowing Russian traditions will also help you to avoid saying or doing things that might offend her or her family. Your Russian girl will truly appreciate the effort especially most of them think that they're being misrepresented. One side effect of a lot of men looking for Russian brides is that there are so many stereotypes or even downright wrong perceptions about Russian girls that's going around. If you don't look at what they are beyond the stereotype, she will be most likely offended with you and would not want to pursue your dating relationship further.

Assess her dating objective and your compatibility.

Even as you try to know about Russian women dating them also means not having to forget about your own objectives in dating. Are you dating with the intent of finding a bride, or do you want to just have a pleasant companionable relationship at the moment? Equally important as determining your personal objective in dating is knowing hers. You have to find out either by directly asking or by inferring from your conversations whether she is also looking for a husband or if she is ready to commit on a relationship but not necessarily marriage. You have to be both on the same page. This will prevent misunderstandings, fights, and disappointments.

If both of you are at the same level where marriage is in the near future, you will have to answer the follow up question of whether you settle down in Russia or your bride will fly over and live with you. You should already have an answer on this so that you'd know whether to stand your ground or compromise when you pose the same question to her. The Russian women dating scene isn't that difficult to navigate as long as you are willing to do your research and communicate well.

Alex Vidal

Share this:

Related

TYPES OF RUSSIAN WOMEN TO AVOID

September 2, 2015

In "European Women"

Tips When Dating Russian Women