

SUCCEED IN DATING RUSSIAN WOMEN – ONE STEP AT A TIME

October 4, 2013

Alex Vidal

There are a number of things that you should take into account when you begin courting a Russian woman online or in your real life. The Russian women who were born in their native country, will feel better if you date them according to their preferences and traditions.

If you intend to court a Russian single online, it's vital that you are always honest with regards to who you are and what interests you. If you've found your ideal match on a dating site, email her to demonstrate your interest in her. If her answer to you indicates that she feels the same way, you can move the romance to the next level.

Enjoying a virtual romance for months is such a joy kill if you never get to speak to your girl directly. There are lots of ways to get in touch with a person who is thousands of kilometres away these days thanks to advanced technology. Most people have a mobile phone or a laptop with internet access. If you found her on the internet on a Russian dating site, you could ask her if she's ready to communicate with you through video chat. If you're sure you want to meet her in real life, try to get her phone number as well, so you could call her first. If the girl you are interested in says that she does not have a mobile, or she can't talk on the video chat, take this as a warning. The girl is either a fraud or not serious about you.

If you've been dating online for some time, it's a good idea to start moving the romance further and plan meeting face to face. That way there is no room for deception. There are lots of guys out there who are afraid to meet their Russian beauties in person. These men can send letters for several months, but they are scared to do anything else to move the relationship further. Real guys know how to take care of women, and they don't spend time on planning. As soon as you are ready to take the next step, approach your sweetheart sensibly. She will be happy about your gesture and she will know you're interested in making this relationship work. It isn't complicated to come in contact with folks who live far, so take advantage of this.

Even if you're chatting and calling regularly and it feels like you're actually dating, you should try to set up a personal meeting. Organising that date shouldn't take too long if she's really interested in you. You can ask your sweetheart how and where she would like to meet you for the first time. Some of the Russian women wouldn't mind it if their online partner came to their country. Then again, you could take her to a different place instead. Don't take too long organizing your first real date with her. If you think you are getting along well, there is no harm in asking her out for a date.

Alex Vidal

Share this:

Related

Dating Foreign Women - Russian Girls

October 7, 2013

In "Online Dating"

Tips for Finding Your Russian Soul Mate, Your Anastasia!

October 1, 2013

In "International Dating"

How to Find Online Russian Dating Services

September 23, 2013

In "European Women"

tagged with dating, dating russian women, dating russians, russian women